Executive Summary:

Our ministries and services took root in Honduras, Central America where we have labored for over 30 years, through various agencies, missions, missionaries in order to successfully create premier missions, ministry, relief and development projects, the establishment of Christian schools and minister training schools and programs.

Our programs and efforts have been blessed and very successful on the ground in Honduras. Our President is a Pastoral Missionary who was called on by the Lord at the age 18 to be a missionary to Latin America. After moving to Costa Rica and working with a team of 10 missionary families, learning Latin culture and becoming fluent in the Spanish language he moved to Honduras as a self supported missionary for many years. Many of the ministries that were created through him in collaboration with others, are still vibrant and active today, even 35 years later.

Over the past 13 years we have nurtured, mentored, vetted and worked through our powerful network of trusted native pastors to establish mission points in the world's hardest places. Pastor Jedidiah funded much of this work from his savings for many years, but individual donors have also participated in funding native pastors and projects. We believe that both grants and committed funding partners are now necessary to enable us to rise to the next level of establishing our mission successes internationally into many nations and to be positioned as "The Premier Native Pastors Missions Agency."

Nearly all Missions Agencies tend to work in support of U.S. or European Missionaries. There are a number of prevailing reasons for this:

- 1). The economics work in favor of a missions agency processing and retaining oversight proceeds from 1st world, U.S. and European missionaries. Working in support of native pastors is a sacrificial work that can be vastly challenging economically to any missions agency.
- 2). U.S. and Europeans missionaries are often college and university graduates who have been specifically trained and prepared for their missions and therefore require less oversight, mentoring, or preparation. Native Pastors come from every educational level and culture and leading them out of the Cave of Adullam requires a leader who has walked in their shoes, depended upon them and has worked hand in hand with them in their nation and culture.
- 3). U.S. and European missionaries generally come to an agency with full support, or are equipped and empowered to raise strong and lasting financial support. Native Pastors come to us with fervent callings, willingness to sacrifice - even life... They are what the Word of God calls, "Suffering Servants." We have been positioned to stand with them, mentor, guide, prepare and provide oversight to them. Many of them are sons and daughters in the faith - and this is the most rewarding part of our ministry.

Our non profit was formed in 1991 as Mission Del Caribe 501(c)(3) (Mission To The Caribbean) The vision at that time was to reach not only Honduras but all of the Caribbean regions. Under Pastor Jedidiah's leadership the mission vision went global back in 2008 when he was given a mandate to reach the nations. Fast forward to February 2021 and Mission Del Caribe changed its name to CrownLife International Inc. 501(c)(3) in order to meet this international global mission and vision.

This global expansion empowers us to strategically help support both existing Native Pastors and their visionary works locally, as well as offering out Missions Agency Services to non native pastors. Covid has also caused the very significant loss of program budgets from individuals and churches, therefore your approval of this grant will ensure that CrownLife International can thrive, duplicate and increase our presence internationally into some of the world's hardest places.
